CIC Improves Certification Experience

LESS TIME LOWER FEES

Exciting news ... In addition to low certification pricing, CIC now offers the most flexible registration for crane operators, riggers, and signalpersons.

Short Advanced Registration

You can now register for Crane Institute Certification (CIC) exams with only 7 days advanced notice! This is the shortest lead time required in the industry. CIC also offers a couple of Rush Exam Sites where candidates can get their certification in as little as one day*.

Rescheduling Flexibility

Scheduled to take an exam, and called away on a big project at the last moment? No problem. You can reschedule your exam up to one year after the initial registration date. That's right! Even if you miss the exam date you can reschedule at a time and location that is most convenient for you*.

No doctor's notice, no death certificates, your reason is good enough for us! Reasonable service fees for registering at rush exam sites and rescheduling exams apply. See <http://www.CICert.com/pricing.php> for details.

Flexible Exam Sites and Dates

Want to take an exam close to where you live or work, when you want? Do it. CIC does not require you to wait for exam sites to offer exams. Most CIC written exam sites offer exams 5 days a week.

Pass the word. Thank you!

Sincerely,

Debbie Dickinson

Crane Institute at the 2010 REACH Expo

Sanford, FL/Minneapolis, MN-
June 15, 2010

What do you get when you put the leading experts from crane and rigging manufacturing, training, certification, and crane industry service providers under one roof? We had a chance to find out in May at the 2010 Reach Expo in Houston, TX.

Crane Institute of America (CIA) and Crane Institute Certification (CIC) both made a big splash at the conference. Hundreds of visitors to the booth dropped by to register for the IPAD give away and stayed a long while to learn more about the Crane Institute advantages and significant ways to save money on training or certification.

CIC personnel also enjoyed hearing Mike Parnell of ITI and Peter Cooke of Columbus McKinnon speak. Mike is Chair of the CIC Rigger and Signalperson Certification Committee and a member of the Governing Committee. Peter is a member of the CIC Advisory Board and the Rigger and Signalperson Certification Committee. As featured speaker at the conference, Peter spoke concerning the top 100 industry questions concerning OSHA and ANSI safety topics in relation to hoist and crane operations. Mike Parnell's keynote gave attendees valuable insights on safe and productive rigging practices.

The CIA and CIC booths stayed busy throughout the conference. Many people came by to speak to Jim Headley of Crane Institute, about the advancement that the two companies are bringing to the industry. Others came by to find out about the new accredited certifications offered by CIC and were excited to learn that CIC:

- Is recognized by OSHA in an official agreement
- Fully accredited by NCCA
- Meets all the requirements for accredited certification of crane operators, riggers and signalpersons

Attendees interested in training were also pleased to learn about the advancements in training, including Crane Institute's new on line train-the-training resources and materials (PPT, books and student workbooks) and updated classes. Some of the comments offered by conference attendees expressed appreciation for the training they received through CIA and the value it affords to their companies. Safety is important to us all. Our coworkers, jobs, and the public depend on us to operate safely and efficiently!

The Reach expo attracted a good number of companies and even had an international flavor to it. Representatives from China, Japan, South America, and Europe joined with groups from all over North America to share new ideas and new products from around the world.

Both CIA and CIC were glad for this opportunity to receive valuable global feedback on their products as well as international praise for what they have done for the crane and rigging industry.
